Shanks' Timely Hit Defeats St. Louis Browns, Score 1 to 0

Nationals Beat Browns With Plank in the Box

Howard Shanks Drives in Much-Needed Run in Sixth Inning with Single—Joe Boehling in Fine Form and Outpitches His Veteran Rival.

By WILLIAM PEET.

Fielder Jones' Brownies found Southpaw Joe Boehling a tough nut to crack here this afternoon and dropped the second game of the series by 1 to 0. It was southpaw against southpaw-Boehling versus the veteran Eddie Plank, and while touched up a bit more often than his ancient rival, Boehling

The Nationals saited away the game in the sixth inning. Milan scoring from second base when Howard Shanks poked one of Plank's curves into left

In the matter of hits, Plank had something on Boehling. The Nationals are credited with only three safe blows off Gettysburg Eddie, and Milan connected Bentley 1 3 0 0 0 0 0 for two of these. Boehling was touched up five hits' worth, and several times found himself in tight places, but fine work by the men behind him averted CORTEZ CONFIDENT

RIFLEMEN ARE BEST

By the score of 957 to 946, the Ma

Plank did not appear to have a whole lot of stuff but the Griffmen could do very little against him. A was in sight, but once more Joe Boehling number of hard-hit balls had they lightened up and permitted no liberties. number of hard-hit balls had they gone safe might have sent the veteran to the showers early in the combat. That Plank did not finish the game was because Fielder Jones sent up a pinch hitter in the eighth inning, and a young right hander, relieved Howard Shanks, averted the threatening disagran.

Pretty Piece of Fielding.

The only fiffding feature worthy of note was a pretty play in the Browns' half of the seventh, when Pratt smash-half of the seventh, when Pratt smashed a line drive at Boehling, the ball shooting off toward the territory guarded by Morgan. Dashing in like a-race horse, Morgan gathered up the flying sphere and retired Pratt at first base.

The Nationals got Foster on second and Milan on first in the opening chapter after one had perished, but there was no help forthcoming from Rondeau and Judge, although Judge crashed to deep right for what looked to be a regulation triple. Miller, however, speared the ball after a hard run and the crowd cheered him for making a fancy catch.

Miller should be shanks. Bert Shotton grounded to Judge and Boehling covered the bag but dropped Judge's perfect throw, Johnson doubled to right putting Shotton on third base. At this stage Manager Jones ordered Jimmy Austin to pluch hit for Ward Miller. Miller sent Shanks a fly ball which Howard gathered in right behind third base and when Shotton attempted to score on the out, a perfect peg to Henry found the ball in the catcher's hands when Shotton arrived at the plate, ending the inning and incidentally -kicking the props from underneath a promising little batting rally.

Andy Cortez, of New York, who is slated to battle Willie Houck, the Mount Airy wild cat, at the Maryland Athletic and Social Club, of Ardmore, Md., on Monday night sends in an interesting statement in regards to his condition. Andy claims that he is sure that he can hang the kayo wallop on his Quaker City opponent. He is in the best of shape and weights 125 pounds, which is make the limit and believes that he will be in the best of shape to give the Philadelphia mauler a real trimming. Nothing definite has been heard from Willie Houck since the signing of the articles, but as the Quaker City lad is good bout.

Matchmaker Freeman has finished arrangements on his card. Jack Moran will battle Sailor White in an eightround semiwind-up, while Joe Blackburne and Turk Smith will go four rounds, with Ben Conroy and Young Duvall going the same route in the opening bout of the evening.

GRANT SLATED TO

MEET LOUIS ZEREGA

The Sconson argued that Boehling was the luckiest pitcher in the world—that any time he entered the box the Nationals invariably made a lot of runs for him, but yesterday's exhibition would seem to contradict this, for the game was won by the narrow margin of one marker, while in Boston last month when Boehling trimmed the Carrigan crowd, he won his game 3 to 2.

The Browns last night said that Boehling "did'nt have a thing" and wondered why they couldn't hit him more often. That's always the cry of a losing team. As a matter of fact Boehling is pitching better ball right now than at any time since 1913, when he won eleven straight games. OF TRIMMING HOUCK White, of Macon, Ga.; Ch. utility man, of Macon, Ga.

Louis Scroggins, the local heavy-weight grappler, proved a tough customer for Joe Grant, the popular middle-weight wrestler, in the bout at the Gayety Theshape and weights 135 pounds, which is ater last night. The headquarters detwo pounds over the light-weight limit, tective succeeded in pinning the shoulders. As there is no weight limit required for of Scroggins to the mat in fourteen minths contest Cortez will not attempt to make the limit and believes that he Southpaw Joe Has Won His Last Two Starts and Is Twirling Fine Ball.

Joe Boehling's performance against the St. Louis Browns yesterday makes it plain that the blonde southpaw-is going to be of considerable help to the Nationals' this season.

straight games. The southpaw is using his head, mix-ing up curves with speed and keeping the ball away from the grooves of the dangerous hitters.

Southpaw Joe has only started two games for the Griffmen this spring, but has won them both. It looks as it Boehling was in for a good season.

Griffith's pitching staff at present is articles, but as the Quaker City lad is a battler who is always in shape the local fight fans can expect one of the best fights that has been held at the club recently. Both boys are sluggers from the word go, and should put up a rattling good bout.

Matchmaker Freeman has finished arrangements on his card. Jack Moran physical condition.

It is probable that Carl Wellman, the lanky left-hander, will be in the box for the Browns this afternoon, although Davenport may be sent back for the sporting editor of the St. Louis Post Dispatch, one of the cleverest writers in the Mound City, and a recognized authority in that section of the State.

EAST WASHINGTON LEAGUE IS READY

At meeting held last night of the East Washington Sunday School League, the schedule for the coming season was Griffith made an important shift in his lineup yesterday, switching Henri Rondeau to right and playing Howard Shanks in left field. The change will be permanent for the present and worked like a charm yesterday, for Shanks came across with a fancy catch in the eighth inning and snuffed out a runner at the plat with a dandy peg to Henry. Shanks can play the sun-field much better than can Rondy.

Umpire Billy Evans, behind the plate, was especially good yesterday. He did not miss a ball or strike and not a kick was heard from either team.

Schedule for the coming season was drawn up and arrangements were made for the opening of the season Monday. The teams to represent the league are Keller, Reformation, Kemdali open the season Monday. Four games will be played each week, Wednesdays and Saturdays being open dates. The schedule for the week of May 15 is as follows: Keller and Reformation, May 16; Reformation and Kendall, May 18; Fifth and Keller, May 19.
